Put Your Mind Where Your Mouth Is!: Lose Language Lies about Life; Use True "Energizing English"! Judson Sanderson M.A.

For 30 years Judson Sanderson has helped people get more energy from their languaging by making them aware of two crucial aspects: insulating and energizing. Insulating is abstract and static, deadening our link to reality; "Energizing English" entrains with motion and relativity, sourcing today's reality—quantum energy! In this book, as in his workshops with groups and individuals, Judson shows people how to delete insulating language lies. Such lies were invented into language by our ancestors who had limited belief systems, like a flat earth, and no explanations for life's oxymorons and conundrums. Without delving deeply into history, physics or eastern beliefs, Judson uses true personal and scientific observations to update language. His new languaging creates critical-mass awareness, bringing about quantum leaps in communicating. Entraining interactions between language and reality continually reenergizes aware persons and groups in their daily working and living.
