Who's Afraid of the Multiverse Jeffrey A. Zweerink, Ph.D.

Jeff Zweerink, explores multiverse theory and its implications for biblical creation models in the booklet Who's Afraid of the Multiverse? Do other worlds exist beyond the observable universe? If we do live in what scientists call a multiverse, doesn't this rule out the necessity of a Creator? In Who's Afraid of the Multiverse? astrophysicist Jeff Zweerink, Ph.D., tackles these questions and many more as he explains this increasingly popular view of the universe. He provides readable explanations of the four basic multiverse models - observational and theoretical evidence for the multiverse the models' impact on the cosmological and teleological arguments for God's existence scientific and philosophical criticisms of the multiverse a biblical response to the multiverse and more. This booklet seeks to demystify the multiverse so that Christians can address skeptics' concerns with gentleness and respect and without fear.
