Becoming Unbroken Robin L Warren

Carson is running from his past. Having lost everything, he feels like God has abandoned him. Full of anger and bitterness, he wants nothing to do with church, or the people who attend it. In a twenty-four hour period, by chance, he runs into an old man and his granddaughter, a deputy, a stranger at a soccer game, a business owner, and a young man who is a reflection of himself. All of them show him mercy without judgment, and Carson's heart begins to soften. Amidst a group of Christians, Carson finds compassion, acceptance, and friendship. Sandy, a member of this group, has been working and raising her little sister—wondering what God is doing with her life. She finds herself drawn to Carson with a strong desire to help him overcome the pain of his past. Slowly, Carson turns back to God with the help of his new friends, but soon they find themselves entangled in the consequences of a desperate man's choices. As lives hang in the balance, Carson will discover that he is not the only one who is in the process of becoming unbroken.
